

Phenomenon-Based Learning: Beginning with the Affective Domain

MODULE 1 LESSON 1

FORMATIVE ASSESSMENT

Using the Question Continuum is an extremely effective way of evaluating how well you understand the information from this lesson. The best formative assessments will include lower and higher-order thinking questions.

1. What are the three Domains of Learning and does the Affective Domain have primacy over the others? Why?
2. Which part of the brain processes the information first?
3. What happens if the limbic system (the emotional centre) registers negative messaging?
4. What if you were to pick three key words from this lesson to explain the concept to a colleague. Which would they be?